

Studio 11 Design Unveils New Office and Project Manager

October 28, 2015

Dallas-based Studio 11 Design has unveiled a new office space in tandem with appointing Greer Fulton to project manager, who previously worked with the firm from 2012 to 2013 on projects including Chino Chinatown in Dallas, the Hyatt Denver Tech, and the Best Western Premiere in Haiti.

Founded by principals Stacy Elliston and Kellie Sima in 2011, the studio specializes in the hospitality and leisure industries, with clients that have included Marriott International, Hilton Worldwide, Fairmont Hotels and Resorts, Starwood Hotels and Resorts Worldwide, Kimpton Hotels and Restaurants, InterContinental Hotel Group, and Omni Hotels and Resorts.

With an open-concept studio, the company's new 2,500-square-foot Dallas office is more than twice as large as its former 650-square-foot location. Locally inspired interiors feature a neutral palette with colorful accents, like gold and black foyer wallpaper that depicts the city skyline.

InterlockingRock
seamless, glass reinforced gypsum.
see more at modulararts.com

latest on the move

Stacy Garcia Appoints New Creative Director

Oct 27, 2015 • On the Move

Looney and Associates Promotes Three Team Members

Oct 27, 2015 • On the Move

Studio 11 Design Unveils New Office and Project Manager

Oct 27, 2015 • On the Move

Digital Edition